

Gail Prindiville

Office Manager

After serving more than forty years in the trenches of the law, Gail just couldn't call it quits. While she recognized that time among family and friends is unfortunately finite, she knew that closing out her tab meant setting aside the impressive acumen she had developed over the years. Her expertise in supporting a wide variety of litigation—including class actions, personal injury cases, and commercial litigation matters—and managing other offices made her the perfect fit for our firm, and we're elated to have her on board supervising the staff (and James and Michael too!).

Outside Interests

Outside of the office, Gail finds time to enjoy a good book with her loyal dog Reggie at her side.
