

Joshua Talsky

Design Consultant

Born and raised in the Brew City, Josh is the fascinating product of an attorney and an artist. This unique upbringing taught him the power of storytelling and inspired him to pursue art from a very early age. An artist at heart, Josh is a visual storyteller who uses his creativity and illustrations to express complex ideas in a way that is both easy to interpret and thought-provoking; a designer by trade, he is a visual conductor who balances form and function to create work that is inspiring and captivating. Combined, he uses these skills at the firm to solve presentation problems, create medical illustrations, timelines, infographics, and most importantly, help clients tell their stories.

Outside Interests

When Josh is not working, he continues to enjoy drawing, creating art, riding his bike to one of the many beer gardens in Milwaukee, and spending time with his friends and family.
